FINANCE AND TRADE.

THE BANKS have still plenty of money, and there is accommodation for all borrowers having the appropriate qualifications. Still there is not quite the same plenty there was a week ago. for the sales of cotton last week were three thousand bales less than on the previous commercial week, and still continue at the decreased rate. Rates of exchange are i discount buying on New York and t on New Orleans; checking on both at par Gold was steadily 114t all the morning in New York; here trokers were offering 1131/6, 1131 The New York Tribine, of Monday, says trade there was only moderately active last week, but adds: "Still intelligent business men continue to see on all sides indications of returning commercial prosperity. They look hepe-fully upon the continued exportations of American cotton goods (prints) to Eugland; upon the continued active movement of the abundant products of the soil to the seaboard, though it is to be rewretted that the exportation of breadstuffs, cotton, etc., has been somewhat less active than during last week. They see a healthy hardening in the rates for money, which they interpret as indicating a re urn of business activity.' The Nashville American, of Tue-day, states: "It is now apparent, both here and in New York, that Tennessee will fail to meet the next January interest,' and adds that the brokers are doing brisk business in State warrants, which they buy a: 97. Memphis police and fire .....

THE COTTON MARKET yesterday was irregular, owing to difference of views as to the position of cotton at the mo-ment, and to a failure to receive complete latelligence from Liverpool, caused by some derangement of the land wires. There was less firmuess among holders especially in the evening, and conces-sions were made to effect saler. On the whole, bowever, prices were sustained, and the official quotations remained unchauged. The tables were well filled, and the wanted staple cottons were in plenty; the sales were the largest of any previous day of the week. The New York Bulletin, of November 15th, complains of "a stupid market, a few orders from spinners, exporters doing nothing Futures were weak and Liverpool tidings depressing. The movements appeared to be mere feelers of the market as experienced by exporters." The official juotations of the Memphis cotton exchange were as follows:

Yesterday. Low middling. The market closed irregular; sales were

THERE was more business doing yeserday, but prices are generally low. An improvement has been evident ever since Monday week, but this week still more so. We do not say we have the sharp, active business we should like to se at this period of the season, but that it is better than it was ten days ago. Corn grows weaker and the demand is light; there were sales at 55c and 57c; sy-load lots brought 60c. Oats are hea 'F; a lot of mixed, with a taint of moi-touese, brought only 38c; some mixed Yought 42c. Bran was lower, once more, selling at $28 25, which is 25c below provious sales. Hay is dull; some choice mixed was off-ring Commeat was down once more, this time heavy, selling at $2.85; the low rate of corn and the decline in New Orleans to $3 has destroyed all strength. We take occasion to remind purchasers at stores that they must not expect to buy a tarrel or two of meal, or a small quantity of anything else, at the price we here quote. They can get cornmeal at the prices we give, if they will go to the elevator and take one or two hundred barrels, then hire drays to baut them up town, and pay all the expenses involved To ask a storekeeper to sell a barrel of meal in at the river, after which it had to be haved and stored away, the storekeeper paying his insurance upon it and running the risk of spoiling—is to show a want of common sense. Eggs were higher with a very good demand. Poultry was firm and the inquiry was also good; the jerrese of visitors to the circus and the company at the I heater, tells upon the consumption of produce, and the merchants' profile are increased in consequence. Potatoes are heavy and prices droping but several dealers are storing rather than sell below $1.50 a barrel.

Bagging is still demoralized; an attempt to sell a cart-load of 21 pound flax yeterd-y at 121c failed, 123c being the circus and the second of the circus and stored and lower at 103.13 (213), and lower at 103 his store, at the price it took to buy 200 yesterday at 12 c failed, 12 c being the best offer f and. Cabbage is very low; fine, large, fresh cabbage were selling at $7 a hundred tesd. Live stock is telerably active; cattle are in fair supply with a good demand; cows and calves find activity in the inquiry. Bulk pork was unchanged; detention by the railroad caused the supply to be light.

Quotations are for round lots, unless otherwise expressed; for feed and produce, levee rates. For small purchases rates are proportionately higher. APPLES-Per bbl. $2 50@5 50, with a quiet demand.

au7 110 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans Rare and Valuable Books, House hold Furniture, Etc., FOR SALE.

HAVING determined to break up house-keeping, I offer for sale my Library of Miscellaneous Beeks, Household Furniture, Etc. The collection of books is probably the finest, for its size, in the State and is hardly surpassed anywhere. It embraces many of the best English editiors of standard and popular wo ks, by the best authors, in the most elegant and substantial bloding. The books are in good order and well preserved; and many of them, being very rare, are seldom found in the book stores, and, when found, are only to be had at high prices. They are the collection of years, having been sedom found in the cools afters, and, when found, are only to be had at high prices. They are the collection of years, having been selected, from time to time, from the stocks of the leading book stores of the principal clifes, and afford a rare opportunity to those having a taste for good reading, and who may wish to gratify it at a moderate cost. I wish to sell the entire collection together, and to one purchasing in that way a wargain will be given; but if it cannot be sold as a whole, it will be divided to sait the wants of purchasers. The collection can be seen at my residence, No. 322 Second street, by any one who may desire to purchase. The ladies are specially invited to examine it; they will find in it many books to suit their taste, some of which they cannot always get. If not sold at private sale within a short time, the books and furniture will be sold at suction, of which due notice will be given.
